Should Healing be Repeated?

Isn't it great to dance a little bit? I enjoyed myself very much. It's a great way to connect with each other in a different way.

So here we are in the Miracle Healing's Intensive but continuing with the 4th part of it and I saw to my amazement that I don't hold myself to the schedule I make in terms of subjects and all that, so that's alright. It really does not matter to me, it is just different. Today there are two topics that I would love to bring in in the idea of miracle healing and one is the question should healing be repeated and the other one is the order of difficulty in miracles. Is one harder than the other? Is a cancer harder than a cold to heal so to speak. Or however you want to look at that. Many aspects will be completely different if you really start to listen to what is being shared to us today and because it is all based on perception on how are you looking at this? Where are you coming from with your consideration? What is occurring in you and how aware are you of the defences you have against healing and all that. It's a kind of challenging subject but I love to work with it and so I will use the Miracle Healers handbook as we downloaded it, and I will use a part from A Course in Miracles chapter 9 - "The Acceptance of Reality". The acceptance of the Atonement is the point of this chapter.

All these subjects and topics we have been looking at and studying them, trying to experience that. We even have an idea of what that is altogether. This is interesting now because you even have to let go of your understanding in order to receive something new, that is just the way it works. And that is healing in itself to allow that to occur to you, to be open to receive something new. It can help that part of it is from A Course in Miracles which maybe you are not familiar with. Joel Goldsmith will share this in a different way to us and he will touch the same subjects in a different way. So this might even be easier to listen to it even if the vocabulary is different and has a different way of expressing and looking at it. This really does not matter in that sense, this is just for you in case you don't understand it immediately and you don't have to understand it in order for it to work or in order for it to be your reality. You don't have to understand it. This is basically what we always do when we come together; we first have to come to the place where we can actually receive this with one another. So the dancing and relaxing and the releasing of some tension can be a great help in receiving but as you follow me in this class, you feel we are going deeper energy wise into our stillness and deeper into healing. Suddenly from your ears the hearing you do with your ears is expanding to hearing this with your whole being because you actually start to listen with your soul, as your soul is recognizing this automatically because it is one with Reality.

That is coming to the stillness within you which increases which makes these words more acceptable and these words will be received with more recognition. Like yes of course I understand what they are saying, I know that must be true. This is basically where we want to start the class and that is why we always prepare a little bit. You don't need your considerations you don't need your concerns, you don't need your thoughts and opinions your political choice or even your stigma that you carry with you. You don't need any of it, so you come with complete open minds and open hearts to this to receive something new, to release all tension and fear because what is going to be presented is your reality, helping you to accept your reality. To accept yourself for whom you are and that is something you have to do yourself. I cannot change your minds for you. So here we go, we literally hold hands together to become receptive to stay and sink deeper into listening to the still small voice within.

That still voice is speaking to us on a moment to moment basis and it tells us in words of love, it tells you in the recognition of the love that you are about yourselves, about your source and direct expression of that is your experience of that.

That is why it is great to come together and actually gather and dive right in there if you know what I mean. To dive right into the place where you start to experience more in understanding because you don't know what to think about this and that is okay. You don't know this is controversial in the sense that it is the opposite of what you believed as a human being, so it is quite something for you to let go of this idea that you hold about everything and which you assume to be normal.

Chapter 9 deals with the Acceptance of Reality. It is very helpful to become aware of where you are actually not accepting reality or where you have an opportunity to undo some ideas that are just in the way that you didn't really even know about. This has a great healing capacity.

"The Acceptance of Reality.

Fear of the will of God is one of the strangest beliefs the human mind has ever made. It could not possibly have occurred unless the mind was already profoundly split making it possible for it to be afraid of what it really is.

Reality cannot threaten anything except illusions. Since reality can only hold truth.

The very fact that the will of God, which is what you are, perceived as fearful, demonstrates that you are afraid of what you are. It is not then the will of God of which you are afraid, but yours; it is your will you are afraid of"

Reality cannot threaten anything except illusions. Since reality can only hold truth.

The very fact that the will of God, which is what you are, perceived as fearful, demonstrates that you are afraid that you are afraid of what you are. It is not then the will of God of which you are afraid, but yours; it is your will you are afraid of"

This is a very profound and basic fear feeling so to speak of a fear threat to yourself.

"Reality cannot threaten anything except illusions as reality can only uphold truth"

See truth is always related to you, to your true nature, to the love that you are, so that is coming from that place that can never be threatened.

"If you do not know what your reality is why would you be so sure that it is fearful? Association of truth and fear which would be highly artificial at most is particularly inappropriate in the minds of those who do not know what truth is"

This is a very good question. If you do not know what your reality is why would you be afraid of it? Like you immediately assume that must be something you are afraid of too because in your human life there is so much that you are afraid of that reality must be threatening to you. It's the whole world that you see doing this and that and who know what is happening if you step right into that.

The acceptance of reality is something that you are going to do at a certain point when you are ready to do that, when you are not threatened by it anymore it is immediately there for you and that is the amazing thing about reality and that is you can read about it, you can have ideas about it, but these ideas are totally in the way of accepting the truth for what it is. And it is happening basically on a different level. This is part of you, this is an extension of you, and it is not something that you can think of or have opinions about. Example I don't like truth because of this or that. Then it is not working at all so that is not what truth is. So your ideas about it are not about truth but are just like the glorification of your ideas.

That is why the healing capacity of this is incredible because it invites you to drop your defences against it and see that there cannot be any threat in reality since you are literally made of it. Reality is an extension of you. It is so inherent in you; so much a part of you and you cannot separate yourself from it. Only in your illusions about yourself can you feel for a moment that you are separate. This is training. We read some books and we contemplated the truth of who we are. I and my Father are One or whatever phrase is close to you that you hold within you. You have recognition with these words and it's not just about accepting these words, no it's literally going one step further now. Allowing that reality to become a real experience to you seeing that it is not just words in a book or given to you by a Jesus that lived 2000 years ago. No, it is literally here right now in front of you and it is inviting to accept itself. That is the beauty of healing of accepting reality for yourself.

So the question arising here is should healing be repeated?

We are talking about this healing, accepting this reality for ourselves.

If we accept it for ourselves do you think that it needs to be repeated?

No, it needs no repetition because once you have accepted Reality, it is truth to you, and that is the beauty of it. It is coming home to yourself, once you come home to yourself that has happened, it has become an actual experience for you. So the fear that connects to the ideas that fear had about it disappear, they dissolve into nothing. This is the invitation of today and also the answer to the question of should healing be repeated.

Again, no it is not necessary. Once it has happened it is there. You remember.

Miracle Healers Handbook:

"Should healing be repeated?"

The question really answers itself.

Healing cannot be repeated if the patient is healed what remains to heal him from?

And if the healing is certain as we have already said it is what is there to repeat?

For a teacher of God, or a practitioner, someone who demonstrates this to remain concerned about the result of healing is to limit the healing. It is now the teacher of God himself whose mind needs to be healed thus and it is this he must facilitate. He is now the patient and he must reach God himself. He has made a mistake and must be willing to change his mind about it. He lacks the trust that makes forgiving truly and has thus not received the benefit of his gift."

So here is the confirmation and the certainty.

"Whenever a child of God has tried to be a channel for healing he has succeeded.

Should he be tempted to doubt this he should not repeat his previous effort. That was already maximal because the Holy Spirit so accepted it and so used it. Now the teacher of God has only course to follow. He must use his reason to tell himself that he has given the problem to one who cannot fail and recognize that his own certainty is not love but fear and therefor hate. This position has thus become untenable. And has offered hate to one whom he offered love and that is impossible. Having offered love only love can be received. "

So the question arising here is should healing be repeated?

If we are talking about this healing, accepting this reality for ourselves.

If we accept it for ourselves do you think that it needs to be repeated?

No, it needs no repetition because once you have accepted Reality, it is truth to you, and that is the beauty of it. It is coming home to yourself, once you come home to yourself that has happened, it has become an actual experience for you. So the fear that connects to the ideas that fear had about it disappear, they dissolve into nothing.

This is the invitation of today and also the answer to the question of should healing be repeated.

Again, no it is not necessary. Once it has happened it is there. You remember.

Giving healing, giving remembrance so to speak to whoever is with you so that you can join in remembrance of reality together, like we do in this moment. If you doubt what you give you have a problem within that. The healing took place; you don't have to be concerned with that. The healing took place because everyone who is actually a channel for healing gets all the support for healing at all times. Never doubt that.

If doubt arises then you have to deal with your own doubt about it. If you question whether it worked then you have a problem with that and you have to see that it is an error that you make because you did not recognize that you were not even the one doing it, that it came through you. You were just the channel so to speak, you were the one who was the instrument for this but the source behind the instrument, and the source through you is your certainty. It has nothing to do with your ideas about it.

"One of the most difficult temptations to recognize is that to doubt healing because of the appearance of continuing symptoms is a mistake in the form of lack of trust. And as such it is an attack. " You offer healing to someone that appears to have some kind of physical something going on. A week later you get a call and not a great response, the patient stating that nothing changed. The hardest thing for you then is appearances. First you have the healing going on with this physical form, you offer healing, you actually don't heal that but you rather come into recognition of your oneness, of your wholeness and see that healing is certain. And then a couple of days later you hear that the problem is still there, so what do you do with that? .

"Usually it appears just the opposite; it seems unreasonable at first to be told that continued concern is attack. It has all the appearances of love and yet love without trust is impossible and doubt and trust cannot co-exist. And hate must be the opposite of love regardless of the form it takes. Doubt not the gift and it is impossible not to doubt its results.

This is the certainty that gives Gods teachers the power to be miracle workers for they have put their trust in Him. The real basis for doubts about the outcome of any problem that has been given to Gods teacher for resolution is always self-doubt."

We come together in one of the other classes dealing with how healing works in regard to the timing of it. When does it actually allowed to happen, to be presented. When do you offer a miracle and when do you not. This is something we will take a look at in the next class as it is very interesting to see how that works out. But here we have to deal with something else which is your doubting what you have been given, what you actually received yourself as a gift you start doubting and that can happen, it's not unusual.

How can we take a look at that for ourselves? Is it that we can actually see that it is self-doubt. There is no mistake in this whatsoever so the fact that this is happening for you is another opportunity for yourself to come to the healing of yourself even on a deeper level for yourself, to see that there is absolutely nothing to doubt about. That you can stay in that certainty because you are not performing this, you are the instrument, you are the one who shares the gift and receives the gift at the same time together with the one who is with you. That is good to remember. To stand still with this for yourself and allow a healing to occur for you, for healing your self-doubt if you want is a lovely act which will give you the opportunity to embrace this even more for yourself and that is so cool.

It takes the discipline to do this, if you doubt the efficacy of your appearances and in the way that you perceive all of this. Let us put this on the table. Call on the Holy Spirit, hand it over. Tell Holy Spirit how you doubt what is going on and are calling for help. This is yet another opportunity for you to come into the experience of nothing having gone wrong. In this stillness is your gift, your communication with everything that is.

All these steps in which we learn something or have something undone are actually lovely lessons instead of the human lessons that were difficult, full of effort, lots of sacrifice. Being ready to receive that gift and that gift is always a gift of loveliness. A gift of Grace really and that makes it incomparable to human learning. So once you see that you are being confirmed and that nothing went wrong and that you absolutely gained everything by receiving that for yourself and by extending it to your brother.

You also see that you actually never doubt this anymore for yourself because you receive that gift for yourself. This is quick learning if you learn to start experiencing this. That is really beautiful.

So now we go to the second part of the class in there is no order in difficulty in spiritual healing.

Miracle Healers Handbook

"As a miracle healer you stand alert in the certainty of your enlightened mind that the miracle does nothing. It is always only in the doing of meaningless order of conceptual thought that was your sick and dying self-identity. The belief in order of difficulties is the basis for the world perception. It rests on differences".

Whatever because the way you were taught was all about differences, analysis, black and white, dark and light and on and on. So this is a beautiful description from the Healers Handbook, the fact that you come in touch with this there is no order of difficulty means in the example of cancer and cold still stems from the same mind, stems from the same conceptual source of conceptual source of associative thought. It's all association; it's all minds words so to speak. It is all that you can come up with as a living being. That was your frame of reference that is so very much still all of this. This makes healing generalized so to speak very easy because there is no difference. There is only the perfection of everyone and a reference to that; everyone strives for perfection as human beings and some get really neurotic in the pursuit of perfection. The thing with healing then is the acceptance of the miracle work is to see that there is no such thing as perfection and that is a given to us. That is not something we can teach but we don't have to reach for that so to speak, it is simply there.

So one hallucination is no bigger than another. The fact that you are hallucinating makes you think that this is Reality, so to think in these terms of illusion or hallucination does not make a difference. It is not Reality. So to accept reality for yourself is a whole different thing.

It has nothing to do with your ideas in looking for differences and comparisons. So we still sink deeper into our healing capacity and come to the place where healing can take place.

Right now you are invited to cross a bridge – a bridge of trust. Trust is really the bridge to receive the healing for yourself, to let go of differences, let go of appearances. Recognize that you are hallucinating that you think that there can be such things as sickness and lack. One of the things that amaze me is how information appears to come from outside actually been received so the idea of sickness or lack exists. If that comes close to you, if you can get a diagnosis that tells you of this, then see what happens in your mind. That is it is interesting to look at because the diagnosis literally opens up all sorts of future scenarios. Oh my God, I have this disease, whether small or big does not matter. Then all scenarios appear in mind and are literally opening up as reality. You instantly make up the story of sickness and I am not saying that you should not; it's just an automatic response to a misperceived emergency situation.

So it is interesting to take a look at what you are doing with this and all these scenarios. The healing that can take place even in situations of concern is to see oh look at what my mind is doing. And at that same time bringing in a true idea for yourself to literally fill your mind with that and not allow anything to intrude upon that. That can be a very lovely phrase which confirms your identity in everything that is, 'in God such as my holiness envelops all I see. 'My mind is completely filled with truth'. 'I am whole and perfect as i was created' or 'I and my Father are one'. Then there is literally no separation, there is literally no space for any projections. To keep that idea with you connected to your feelings in your heart, to your love for God is where healing takes place. Because there is no space in your mind for anything other than God, for no scenarios, for no outcomes, for no future plans, for no future scenarios. And of course you get this and suddenly you feel concerned about it again. This is another opportunity to let that statement of truth come into you again. Remind yourself of all that is given. Then the healing power that is connected to your whole ideas are total. They keep you right in the Holy Instant.

I had some profound experiences by bringing that into my mind. My mind holds only what I think of God. For me this works as a healing phrase, not as a magical mantra or something, no it is a profound experience that is given to me when I allow that to affect me completely and allow that to stay so close that it heals me, it stays so close to me that I can be replenished by it all the time. Because you see the temptation to think differently to think with your human mind again in situations that are pressing in a little bit more on you is very tempting but to not allow that by bringing in something that completely fills you with wholeness has amazing healing power for you. And you become more and more aware where the mind is slipping off and of course when the mind does this you dive into a whole scenario of fear like you literally take a detour into fear, so that is always available to you, the world is always screaming it at you, you are constantly being bombarded with information that has nothing to do with your real identity, with your truth. There is no reason for you to be afraid of Reality, what you made of the idea of reality might be a source of fear but truth will never upset you. Truth will always set you free. Truth will always give you peace and truth is what you are coming from the extension of the love that you are. And that is the truth. So another way of dealing with situations that are very tempting to you is to question how you can give in this moment to come into the action of mind of giving again. How can I serve in this moment?

How can I be truly helpful? These insights are very helpful in standing in truth and projecting love instead of fearful ideas, so this love will come back to you as a reflection to you and so you literally give to yourself. And an amazing thing is that this is totally helpful to the ones that you meet. So we come into the recognition of our Oneness. You join with your brother, you see that there are no differences, even though they might look different or have a different background. Because that does not really matter at all. So you recognize the oneness in all of us.

So are you starting to be healed by this, are you starting to be healed from your ideas, are you releasing some false perceptions, are you becoming aware of something new this time?

Are you happy to be letting go of what is not needed? The opportunities to deal with specific situations in which you are being attempted to think that you are this thing walking around that can become ill or that scenarios can befall you. Are you becoming aware that there is more to this than you could ever imagine. Are you gaining awareness that there is a spiritual power to you that restores all true ideas in you and literally helps you to release the untruth you have held, to see that they literally melt like snow in the sun?

That is wonderful. I am so happy to extend this to you so that we can share this new communication and see that healing is so natural to receive a miracle is natural to see that we are one and come into that communication is so natural, this is the way that we know we can be together. That is worth a celebration. That is why I love to start to start the sessions with the celebration of dancing, yes we come together and dance and that we share this together and that we can celebrate the truth of who we are and not having to dive deeply underground to secure ourselves because we have a secret. No we can celebrate this truth in openness; we can do this just here, exactly where you find yourself. That is what is so great about this.

"There can be no difficulty in the order of healing because all sickness is illusion. Is it harder to dispel the belief of the insane in the larger hallucination as opposed to a smaller one? Will he agree to the unreality of the louder voice than he gives then to that of the softer one? Will he dismiss more easily a whispered demand to heal than a shout? This mind has categorized them all as real, so they are all real to him. When he realizes that they are all illusions they will disappear and so it is with healing. The properties of illusions which seem to make a difference are really irrelevant for their properties are as illusory as they are. The body's eyes will continue to see differences but the mind that has itself being healed will no longer acknowledge them. There will be those who seem to be sicker than others and the body's eyes will report the changed appearances as before but the healed mind will put them all in one category, they are unreal is the gift of this Teacher. The understanding that only two categories are meaningful in sorting out the messages the mind receives from what appears to be the outside world and of these two but one is real. Just as Reality is always real apart from size and shape and time and place for differences cannot exist within it. So too are illusions without distinctions. The one answer to sickness of any kind is healing. The one answer to all illusions is truth"

And here is an excerpt from the Lesson Handbook 152.

No one can suffer loss except it be his own decision. No one suffers pain except his choice elects this state for him. No one can grieve, fear nor think himself sick unless these are the outcomes that he wants. And no one dies without his own consent. Nothing occurs which represents your wish and nothing is omitted that you choose. No one can suffer loss unless it is his own decision. "

.Wow, so are you stirred up by this, are you hearing something new?

So to read this Miracle Healers Handbook can be very helpful. To repeat those ideas to yourself to see how this is set up for you to be undone from illusions you hold about yourself. And at the same time there is immediately something in the face of that where the undoing is just a little part, the undoing is just creating space for more experience of the love that you are, of your Reality. That is what I love about doing this it is not just that something is going to be taken away. no this is undone literally because it has no reality so reality comes into your awareness more than anything and this will enlighten your mind with that and see that there is literally light instead of darkness and that there is no such thing as limitation and sickness. This does not work the way that you think it works and that is always the difficulty with teaching is i cannot teach you that, it is literally an experience so the total loveliness that is being presented by coming in touch with who you are is what this is about., and that is total you experience and it is being offered here. You give this to yourself by standing still and listening to this by reading it for yourself and suddenly discovering that you are being touched by this and feeling the release of your defence against yourself or your fight against yourself. The release of that flight, you suddenly discover the love for everything that is. This is an amazing gift which is being offered here, now in this class to you.

So thank you for joining me in this and being available to celebrate that with me.

Thank you so much.

See you soon.
